Allies Extend Raids On Italy; Foggia Bombed

Axis Planes Being Shot Down At 3:1 Rate Gen. Eisenhower Reports

MANY AIRCRAFT ON GROUND SMASHED

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 1.—With Axis planes now being shot down at the official rate of three for every Allied craft lost, sweeping new attacks by American bombers and fighters against war objectives in Italy and the Mediterranean were announced by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today.

Coincident with dawn to dusk attacks against crippled Pantelleria carried out at intervals of from two to three hours throughout yesterday, hard-hitting Boeing flying fortress bombed out of the sky 25 miles from the Italian mainland and 70 miles northeast of Naples.

Foggia is the most distant point on the Italian boot yet reached by planes of the northwest African Air Force.

Show Superiority

The 3-to-1 Allied superiority was revealed in an official statement disclosing that in recent operations 337 enemy planes have been shot down in aerial combat as against 108 Allied losses.

Fortresses of Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's command again literally thumbed their noses at the German air force by going into Foggia, a highway and railway junction without any fighter escort. They smashed up a large number of enemy aircraft on the ground and caused extensive damage among hangars on the field, as well as railway tracks and marshalling yards within the city itself.

The Foggia raid was officially described as "marking a widening scope of offensive operations." Gen. Doolittle's planes took on what was termed a "fairly strong enemy force" and emerged with banners flying.

PA NEW OBSERVES

If the present gas ban lasts all summer as forecast, New Castle folks will probably see a revival of the one-time universal custom of "porch sitting" on summer evenings.

Auto traffic over the week-end Memorial holiday period saw a great curtailment of travel, but there still was considerable traffic in evidence on the roads.

Persons who expected to do a lot of victory gardening work over the holiday period were disappointed. Rainy weather prevented much being accomplished.

Pa. News noted an auto on the streets here yesterday carrying a Massachusetts license and an A card. How some drivers work such miracles is an intriguing situation to Pa. News.

Residents of highway 422 "enjoyed" a new sport on Sunday and Monday, that of watching Ohio automobiles whizz by on pleasure trips while their own cars were in the garages unable to use the gasoline the Ohio motorists purchased in the state for pleasure driving which is banned to Pennsylvanians.

Infants born at the New Castle hospital totaled 67 during the month of May, with 38 boys being born and 29 girls. The month proved to be a rather dry one for the stork, with only one set of twin girls, their appearance, and one set of twin boys. An increase of 13 births was noted for the month of May over the preceding month.

Seek Understanding With Russia Before Invasion Of Europe

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—There is a growing belief in diplomatic circles in Washington today that the United States and Great Britain are eager to obtain a clear political understanding with Russia in advance of a major Anglo-American invasion of the European continent.

The importance of obtaining such an understanding is believed to have figured prominently in the recent White House talks between President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Efforts to achieve this understanding are now believed to be actively underway, with a meeting between Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin and Churchill or President

Memorial Day Observed With Sober Ceremony

Exercises Conducted On Sunday Showed Respect To Heroes Of All Wars

ALL SERVICES HELD ON ONE DAY

Sunday was observed as Memorial Day by the veterans societies of New Castle but it was not just another Memorial Day. With the greatest war in history raging, those participating were reminded a little more deeply of the significance of the occasion. Particularly so was this the case during the unveiling of the Loyal roll to those who have lost their lives in the current conflict, and when the roll was called at the evening church service. Those services brought home the community's losses and made everyone realize that the war is touching this community, as well as others.

Ceremony At Greenwood

The program of the day opened at 1:45 p. m., when those participating in the parade assembled at the intersection of North Jefferson and Falls streets, and headed by the Senior high school band, and Chief Marshall Cecil F. Suber, marched out to Greenwood cemetery where for many years, exercises have been conducted by the veterans for their fallen comrades of all wars. This service was shortened this year in order that all the programs could be gotten into one afternoon and evening.

With C. Ed. Brown, chairman of the day presiding, Commanders Fred C. Duff, of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion; Frank T. Sargent, Neshaunock Post, No. 315, V. F. W.; Thomas McNicholas, representing Harry L. McBride Post, No. 522, V. F. W.; and Henry J. Scott, Col. Daniel Leasure Post, United Spanish War Veterans, paid their tributes to those who have gone before. In conclusion, while the Boy Scouts placed floral tributes on the graves in the Civil War Veterans plot, the band played the Star Spangled Banner.

Dedicate Honor Roll

When the marchers reformed their ranks, outside the cemetery gates, they were joined by the Bessemer high school band and the head of a delegation representing the Earl J. Watt Post, American Legion, who took part in the procession to the court house, where the honor roll, presented by the Commissioners of Lawrence County, in honor of the men who have died in the current war, was formally dedicated.

With Fred C. Duff, Commander of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, presiding, a program appropriate to the occasion was carried out. Following the singing of America by the New Castle Consistory Choir led by David Rees, the invocation was given by Rev. Fr. D. A. Wilkey, of St. Agatha's church, Ellwood City. The new flag for the pole in back of the honor roll was raised for the first time by Lieut. Margaret E. Mulineaux, of the WAACS, assisted by Sgt. Michael Shea, of the Marines, who is in charge of recruiting for the branches here.

Judge Braham Speaks
The commissioners, W. R. Walton, George H. Bolinger, and Joseph F. Travers, were introduced, and Mr. Walton, in behalf of the county presented the honor roll, which was then unveiled by Miss Phyllis A. George, sister of Lieut. John A. George, who lost his life in the fighting in the Philippines, the first from the county to fall after war was declared.

Judge W. Walter Braham, President Judge of Lawrence County, made the address of acceptance calling attention to the heroism of these young men, who though not wanting to die, were giving their lives that this great heritage hand-

Attack On Kiska May Be Next U. S. Blow In Pacific

Recapture Of Attu Opens Way For New U. S. Attacks On Pacific Front

JAPS MAY HAVE 10,000 ON KISKA

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—American reconquest of Attu island in the western Aleutians today pointed to new United States blows against Japanese bases, either at Kiska or other important islands along the long Pacific front.

Japanese-held Kiska island, 200 miles east of Attu, undoubtedly will bear the brunt of America's increasing north Pacific strength, but it was not known whether an invasion will be carried out immediately.

There was a possibility that the aerial offensive against Kiska would be renewed and the sea and air blockade of the island would be tightened to weaken the powerful enemy garrison by starvation.

10,000 Troops On Kiska

No supplies have moved into the Kiska area for weeks since U. S. warships took command of the water approaches to the island. The Japs were understood to have at least 10,000 troops on Kiska compared with 3,000 on Attu.

The menace that Kiska presented for a while to other U. S. Aleutian bases, and to the American north-west Pacific coast was virtually eliminated when American troops landed on Attu May 11 and cleaned up the main enemy force in three weeks.

Action, however, was expected by analysts in other Pacific front line areas, either in the Japanese mandated islands or in the south and southwest Pacific zones.

Except for aerial blows at Japanese front line bases there has been little action in the Solomons, and Australian area for weeks, indicating that U. S. forces may be preparing for more important operations.

Only last week Lae was blasted with 28 tons of bombs in a single attack by Allied planes. Today's communiqué also disclosed new air attacks on another important enemy base at Pischhafen, New Guinea, by a single Allied bomber, and on the Jap airbase at Laungboer, in the Kei Islands. At Laungboer, long-range fighter planes shot down one of six intercepting Zeros and returned safely after destroying an enemy medium bomber and fighter on the ground and causing other damage.

Four Hundred Japs Are Killed

U. S. Forces Continue Mopping Up Remaining Japs On Attu Island

SOME SMALL GROUPS STILL RESISTING

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Navy announced today that three separate American Army columns drove across remaining territory to Chichagof Harbor on Attu Island in the Aleutians, encountering weak resistance and killing more than 400 Japanese troops.

The victorious American forces drove from the south, southwest and west respectively, effecting a junction on the site of Attu village on Chichagof Harbor.

"In the forward movement of the U. S. Army troops, small Japanese groups offered weak resistance," the Navy said. "Over 400 of the enemy were killed in the operations during the night of May 29-30."

Navy men stated that organized resistance by the Japanese apparently has ended on Attu. However, small groups may still have to be mopped up.

At the same time, the Navy said that Army Liberators and Mitchell bombers, escorted by fighters attacked Japanese installations on Kiska Island, 200 miles east of Attu.

"Fires were started in Gertrude Cove, the camp area, and on a beached ship and on the runway," the Navy said in describing the Kiska attack.

Soviet Secrecy Veils Fighting In Kuban Area

Fighting Continues For Bridgehead In West Caucasus Is Only Report

NAZIS TRY RAID NEAR LENINGRAD

By NATALIE RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, June 1.—The fight by red army units to oust the Nazis from their lone bridgehead in the west Caucasus continued today but the progress being made by the Russian troops remained cloaked in official secrecy.

The Soviet high command stated in a communiqué that fighting is continuing in the Kuban valley but refrained from releasing any details.

Report Activity

Considerable activity both in the air and on the ground was reported in the Leningrad area on the northwest front.

A strong attempt was made by the Nazis to bomb towns near Leningrad but Soviet air forces and anti-aircraft batteries dispersed most of the hostile planes before they reached their targets. It was said that 31 German planes were shot down in the air battles while the Russians lost three.

A few Nazi planes were said to have broken through the Russian defenses after which they dropped their bombs at random and caused only insignificant damage.

Artillery Exchanges

Just below Leningrad, on the Volkhov river front, artillery exchanges between Russian and German batteries were reported.

German radio reports that their forces had begun an attack against Soviet lines east of Velich, 60 miles southeast of Velikie Luki, on the front northwest of the large Nazi base at Smolensk, were not confirmed in Russian communiqué.

The high command reported continuing artillery action against German positions on the central front where earlier it had been reported that two companies of Nazi troops had been wiped out. Soviet scouts were credited with blowing up three blockhouses in a raid against German lines.

Recapture Efforts

In the Lischansk area of the Donets river front the Germans twice attempted to recapture lost positions but were repelled with heavy losses.

Soviet airmen, said the high command, raided a German airbase, destroying 10 grounded planes and shooting four others out of the sky in dogfights.

South of Balakleya on this front artillery exchanges were reported. In other artillery action west of Rostov the Russians partly annihilated a battalion of German infantry after throwing back an attack by Nazi units equipped with tommy guns.

Total rainfall for the past month, the weather bureau continues, was 5.55 inches, an excess over normal of 2.34 inches. Main temperature for the month was 61.2 degrees.

Authority Of President Seen As Challenged

No Extension Of Coal Wage Truce And Miners Walk-out Again

NO ACTION YET BY PRESIDENT

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The nation's coal operators today drafted a telegram appealing to Coal Czar Harold L. Ickes and the war labor board to intervene in the new, general strike of the 540,000 members of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Union.

After the paralyzing strike hit the country like a thunderclap at midnight, the miners and operators met for an hour this morning without reaching an agreement to end the walkout. It was then that the operators started drafting their telegram, which in the long run may also force intervention by President Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A new general walkout by members of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers union hit the nation with paralyzing suddenness today, throwing nearly 550,000 miners out of work and challenging the authority of President Roosevelt to prevent strikes in wartime.

Later, for the first time, details of a desperate last minute peace making venture by the government was revealed.

Sought Temporary Contract

Spokesmen for the mine operators disclosed that coal czar Harold L. Ickes—director of the federally operated mines—had conferred for half an hour last night with Lewis and Charles O'Neill, the latter the representative of the northern mine owners.

Ickes sought to end the coal wage dispute by a "temporary contract" but his efforts were unavailing. Spokesmen for the operators said that the proposed interim agreement was totally unacceptable to them.

Significantly it was revealed that Ickes did not request Lewis to extend the strike truce in the coal fields. It was believed by many observers that his failure to do so prompted Lewis to allow the crippling coal strike to occur.

It was said that Ickes finally had to leave the conference to make a radio broadcast. He turned the peace making venture over to Abe

Sees Heavier Blows On Japs

U. S. Official Forecasts Increasing Attacks On Japs In Southwest Pacific

MAKES TOUR OF BASES OF ALLIES

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 1.—Increasingly heavier blows against the Japanese in the southwest Pacific were forecast today by Artemus Gates, United States Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Air, after conclusion of a tour of Allied bases.
"We shall reach out and find the enemy whether he be in a harbor or at sea, and our blows will be increasingly heavier," said Gates.
The purpose of Gates' trip was to visit as many as possible of the units of the United States naval air force now in the area.
The assistant secretary said these units, working in conjunction with other arms of the services, would carry the fight to the enemy.
"No one," he said, "can visit our advanced areas without being impressed with the straining spirit and resolve displayed by our air units."
The direct product of our combined efforts will be total destruction of the enemy forces. By-product will be a better understanding and an even friendlier feeling among our peoples.

FAITH HABITS
Regardless of what is taking place in their country, the English have to have their tea. The same holds good with the United States in regard to taking time off on a holiday, or any other excuse they can find. A lot of people who take off these different kind of days, in order to rest, would still think it would be perfectly O. K. to work on the Sabbath.
Now, of all times, when everyone should work every hour possible to win the war, we should forget habits, notions and other things but Work! Work! Work!
We all know what the boys in the trenches think of those who are counting the minutes they work each and every day. We also know what they think of those men who are hindering production by striking in times when our country's life is at stake.
We have never known of a death where death has taken place, that the cause of death, on the Death Certificate, was stated as "OVER-WORK."

AUTHORITY OF PRESIDENT SEEN AS CHALLENGED

Fortas, undersecretary of the interior, but the undertaking availed nothing.
To Meet Today
The miners and operators also were scheduled to meet during the day and it was possible that a new truce in the coal fields might be arranged. However, the hope was not too bright.
Lewis was in a cheerful mood when he arrived at his office this morning.
"I have no comment," he said. Pressed for some statement, the UMW "boss" insisted:
"I have no comment. If I commented you would embroil me in a conversation."
Starting at midnight, the strike—the second in a month—spread through the country with such swiftness that most mines of the country were shut down by noon, and all mines where Lewis has organized the workers were expected to be closed before the day was over.
More than 130,000 unionists quit work in western Pennsylvania; eastern Pennsylvania had 80,000 idle; Indiana 10,000; Alabama 19,500; Kentucky more than 15,000; Ohio 28,000; and Illinois some 23,000.

Negotiations Deadlocked

Lewis allowed the strike to go on at midnight after the miners and operators became deadlocked in wage negotiations and a truce under which the mines had been operating expired.
The walkout occurred despite a pledge by President Roosevelt a month ago that "the production of coal will not be stopped." His statement was made at the time of the first general mine strike on May 1.
Today, the White House was silent over the new coal crisis. No one in authority there would say whether the president, using his powers as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, would declare martial law and use troops to "break" the work stoppage, which ultimately will threaten production in every munitions factory in the nation.
According to officials in Washington, it was up to federal leaders—and the president—to decide whether martial law would be declared and army troops used to break the work stoppage. Mine unions chiefs said that the strike was directed at coal operators, but government officials were reported ready to rule that Lewis' action comprised a strike against the United States government.
Reporters kept a constant vigil at the White House awaiting word of what action Mr. Roosevelt would now take. The president was scheduled to hold his regular press conference late in the day but it was not known whether the coal crisis would keep him so busy that he would be forced to cancel it.
Democracy can live only while those who have understanding can force others to do their part.

TO EVERY MOTHER AND FATHER OF A TEEN-AGE BOY

Because the current food and farm labor shortage is a serious threat to America's war effort, the Boy Scouts of America have pledged 100,000,000 vitally needed hours to helping the nation's farmers this summer! Realizing the seriousness of the farm labor shortage... and the outstanding qualifications which fit the Scouts for this work... H. J. Heinz Company is encouraging parents of teen-age boys to have their youngsters join the Scouts and participate in this patriotic food plan!

FOR the coming summer, American Boy Scouts are volunteering by thousands as "soldiers of the soil!"

The energy of our teen-age youth at home may prove a decisive factor in the winning of the war! Your boy, if he is a Scout, may now be participating in his Troop's food-growing program. Encourage him to lend his strength and skill to the food-production plan and recruit new Scout members!

An Opportunity For Your Boy

If he is not a Scout, think of what membership would mean to him. He would have fun—enjoy constructive recreation and outdoor life—and, through the training, skills and opportunities offered by the Scout Program, be able to serve his country.

What is planted and harvested within the next few months will determine what millions of Americans will eat next winter. That's why H. J. Heinz Company wants to give this Boy Scout plan for farm help all the support it can.

How The Scout Plan Is Working

Besides benefiting from healthful, constructive Scout activities such as camping and hiking—learning how to be a leader and a good citizen—he will be helping to relieve the labor shortage on the nation's farms!

The working arrangements for Scout Food Production units vary in different parts of the country. In general, projects fall within four main classifications.

The first is Home Food Production for all Scouts— Victory Gardens, Poultry and Small Stock Projects. Even the Cubs, aged nine through eleven, are gardening with their brother Scouts.

Philadelphia Scouts, under the guidance of the National Farm School, have planted model gardens to demonstrate proper methods of planning, planting and cultivation.

The second plan calls for establishment of Work Camps, where boys, sponsored by competent leaders, supply Scout Power to camp gardens and nearby farms. The Minneapolis Area Council alone will enroll 2,000 Scouts in its Camp Food Production Program for 1943.

Under the third plan, Scouts, 14 and older, will live at home and be transported to farms for "day haul" and week-end work. In preparation, the Louisville Area Council has conducted one day camps to introduce Scout workers to farm life.

The fourth plan involves the training and placing of individual Scouts, 16 and over, as resident farm help. In Anniston, Alabama, and in Des Moines, Iowa, older Scouts are attending Scout operated farm schools, learning to drive tractors and handle other farm implements.

Competent Medical Care And Supervision

In these plans, and the plans of many of the other 540 Local Councils, all arrangements regarding placement, medical care, supervision, transportation, wages, meals, hours of work, and provision for regular Scouting activities have been worked out in cooperation with the farmers and with the Federal and State agencies concerned.

Scouting is all-out for Victory! Boys everywhere sense the urgency of the times.

Your son wants a part in winning the war. Let him join the Boy Scouts for a service that will help fit him physically, mentally and morally for the job that lies ahead!

HONEST TAXPAYERS

SPOKANE, WASH., has tackled a new experiment in the realm of human nature, and has come out on top. It is a demonstration apparently indicating that people will be honest even about their taxes, when put on their honor.

It was time for tax assessments on farms and personal property and it was hard to get deputies for the job. So the assessor decided to take a chance on human nature for once. He sent blanks by mail to all the taxpayers, with instructions, asking them to assess their own property. There would be a good deal of cheating, he figured, but maybe the saving of costs would make up for it.

To his astonishment, the property owners didn't seem to cheat at all. When the returns were all in, the honor system had produced $600,000 more than last year. The cost per assessment was only 10 cents instead of $1.25.

So honesty gets a good advertisement, and it wouldn't be surprising now if this plan were used in other places.

WEST AFRICA AN IMPORTANT BASE

President Roosevelt's appointment of Rear Admiral William A. Glassford as minister to West Africa provides fresh evidence of the importance attached to that territory by our government. American activities in the area, formerly handled for the state department through the consulate general at Dakar, will be co-ordinated and supervised by the new minister, who is well acquainted with the particular problems involved.

Because the battle lines were there, until the Axis defeat in Tunisia, North Africa has held the center of the stage in recent months. But if West Africa has not figured greatly in the news, it has not been overlooked by the Allies. We may be quite sure that its many facilities, including the great base at Dakar, are being put to use.

It was not so long ago that this same Dakar was a sword poised over the Allies' heads. Until the American occupation it was never known when the Germans might, with or without the acquiescence of Vichy, take over the base for submarine use, or as a jumping-off place for invasion of the Americas.

That threat, fortunately, has been removed. The sword has been taken down and turned, instead, upon the enemy.

REPORTING THE BATTLE

Elmer Davis of the OWI pays a deserved tribute to the war correspondents who have shared the risks of the soldiers and sailors at the front and experienced the terror loosed by the Luftwaffe upon English civilians. Fifteen of the corps have lost their lives, while others are reported missing and enduring the rigors of enemy prison camps. News writers, photographers and radio men consider it a high privilege to be allowed by the military commanders to go to the actual field of battle. At the risk of their lives these men have given to the American public a realistic picture of the sacrifices and dangers daily experienced by the armed forces.

On bomber flights in the Pacific or over Germany and Axis occupied Europe the correspondents have never hesitated to participate in all the dangers risked by the flying men. When bombers are reported "missing" the correspondents have shared the fate of the crew.

This war has spared none who approach the zone of battle. Generals as well as privates are in the front lines. With both are the correspondents, photographers and radio men, to whom getting the news is more important than anything else.

JAP DRIVE IN CHINA

That drive up the Yangtze river toward Chungking which the Japanese have launched in an effort to eliminate China from the war places China in much the same position that Russia has occupied in relation to the world struggle.

By holding out and coming back in strong counter-attacks, Russia has measurably shortened the war against Hitler. If China holds out against Japan's strongest pressure, the war against the Pacific aggressor likewise will be appreciably shortened.

China has ample manpower. But concern in China's situation is caused by the fact that it is far less industrialized than is Russia. Russia needed help from America and Britain to equip and feed its armies, help that has been forthcoming to the tune of billions of dollars. China needs even more assistance, and the problem is how to get aid to her, a problem has remained unsolved since the Burma road was cut more than a year ago.

The approaches to Russia, distant and precarious as they are, are much better than the Allied approach to China. So far as has been revealed, the only avenue of aid is by transport plane over the lofty Himalayas.

China reassures the other Allied nations that it will hold the Japs off. It would be a catastrophe for the Allied cause in the Pacific if Japanese forces captured Chungking. There is a possibility that when the summer rains end in India, powerful Allied forces will be set in motion through Burma into China. A drive against the Nipponese in this quarter, if successful, would enable the Allies to get modern weapons and abundant supplies into China.

In Europe the point system has to do with the place of Allied invasion.

A friend of ours who has a Victory Garden tells us that the breed of chickens which his neighbors raise is called saboteurs.

Allied lightning over Germany and Italy frequently strikes several times in the same place.

Morgenthau says tax income must be boosted to $45,000,000,000. Will this be pay-through-the-nose-as-you-go?

Other problems created by war come and go, but the gasoline problem in the eastern states goes on forever.

Now that we have got around to horse meat we suppose that it won't be long until they are serving, in the best hotels, choice filet of paddock.

Virginia Gayda, Mussolini's mouthpiece, who formerly was vociferous in proclaiming what Italy would do to the United States, now admits that the future looks dark for Italy and will become darker.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CREATIVE FUN AT HOME SAFEGUARDS CHILD

In these days when so many moral hazards face the child and youth, creative fun at home is very desirable. The child who grows up in a home where he has a workshop is fortunate.

What can be more wholesome for a child of five, twelve or fifteen than to spend hours and hours at making things for fun at home, especially when some of his playmates often join him at this profitable pleasure? Creating things with others in a safe environment is about the best possible training in good citizenship. When a child creates he is doing just the opposite of what he does when he destroys.

This character and citizenship aspect of creative activity at home has generally been overlooked. We parents should be glad the modern elementary school devotes so much time to creative activities. They carry over to the home. Children making things at school, take them home and continue at creative fun there with neighbor children.

Learns to Get Along
Engaged in such constructive exercises, your child learns to get along with other children. Besides, he learns to talk with others his age and this talk in the hearing of his home folk is tempered with dignity. Obscenities and vulgarities are far less likely to be heard there than away from home.

Begin to encourage creativeness in your child as soon as he reveals imagination. Learn to appreciate his earliest and crudest creations. When he puts together a few blocks and calls them a house or bridge, be able to see what it is. Enjoy his scribbling, drawing and coloring. Date some of them and put them away. Listen to his yarns of fancy; write some of them down. Fire his imagination with folk love.

Give Child Tools
Put into his hands tools he can use, as he graduates upward with crayons, paste, scissors, hammer and saw, and more advanced tools. Let him have a corner in the kitchen or another room for his things. Encourage him to save his money to buy more tools for his workshop as long as he is home. Do not use his tools without having his permission to do so.

Count it a privilege to be invited to his workshop to join him in making things or to talk with him while he works there.

A graded list of playthings and tools may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q My daughter, in the fourth grade, who does very well at mechanical things is arithmetic, such as adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing abstract numbers, has trouble solving verbal (reasoning) problems.

A She may be a poor reader. At any rate the chances are she does not first get the meaning of the problem before she begins to try to solve it. Some children don't fully grasp the meaning of a problem before beginning to solve it, but merely look from one number among the words to another and guess that it is an add, subtract, divide or "guizinto" problem. Try to help her feel calm and serene as she works at verbal problems, so she will not feel occasion to hurry. My "Home Helps for Poor Readers" may be had by writing me in care of this paper enclosing an addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

FAMILY TRAIT

"It's a downright shame to be marked that way. But there's nothing to do!" all the women say. And there isn't a doubt that they all decide.

It's a trait that comes from her father's side.

Now never an opera star she'll be. For Ellen Elizabeth sings off key!

Scarce three years old, and a monotone!

Lost to all song when she's older grown!

As lovely to see as the rose of June, But one who can't carry the simplest tune.

"Just like her grandpa!" they all agree.

For Ellen Elizabeth sings off key!

Doomed to be shushed when the hymns are sung!

Doomed to be mocked by the old and young!

Doomed to distribute the books they use.

But never to join in the songs they choose!

Never the pitch, be it A or C. For Ellen Elizabeth sings off key.

"Just like her grandpa!" the women sigh.

"Never could sing, though he'd always try."

"Just like her grandpa!" the women wail.

"Never could manage to sing the scale!"

Now never from that will her days be free.

For Ellen Elizabeth sings off key. (Copyright, 1943, Edgar A. Guest)

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:22. Sun rises tomorrow 5:33.

Potato growing in the south during the past winter has made up for the southerners a lot of money they did not get from tourists.

A lot of people are learning now how bare the cupboard of Mother Hubbard was.

A CHALLENGE!

When you read this column, Decoration or Memorial Day will have passed but its significance will be alive in the mind and soul of every true American.

The memory of the sacrifices of those who have given their lives... "the last full measure of devotion" should remain the inspiration to "hold high the torch" against the propaganda of those who would destroy our American institutions and liberties and freedoms; and to carry on that this nation of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth.

It don't take as much coffee now to make a cup of coffee.

That Uniontown woman who had $22,000 stolen from her skirt will give the idea of a safe deposit box some attention now if she gets any more money.

Nothing is final any more now.

It was three days until payday, so the sailor was shopping in the dime store, quite a few items had attracted his attention, so he asked the clerk: "Is everything here for sale for ten cents?"

Clerk: "Why, certainly." Sailor: "Oh, boy! Just wrap up the little bundle behind the cosmetics counter and I'll take her along."

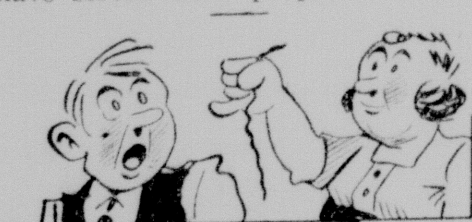

You can get into the scrap by gathering all the scrap you can.

A young lawyer from the North sought to locate in the South. He wrote to a friend in Alabama, asking him what the prospect seemed to be in the city for "an honest young lawyer and Republican."

In reply the friend wrote: "If you are an honest lawyer, you will have absolutely no competition. If you are a Republican, the game laws will protect you."

It is easier to go nuts now than ever before.

Another assurance of progress is the funerals of those leaders who have served their purpose.

The final test of a good provider is to have spare shoestrings in the house.

Last fall a Chinese diplomat was taken to see his first game of American football. When his Washington host asked what he thought of the game he replied: "If it's a fight, it is too little. If it's a game, it is too much."

PLAINER THAN DAY

The mother of a "modern daughter" enjoyed this:

She: "Do you think I show distinction in my clothes?"

He: "Well, I wouldn't say distinction. I'd say that 'distinctly' would be a better word."

Boys and girls from cities who will work on farms this summer will learn a lot of things they never thought existed before.

No one has the right to accept authority unless he is willing to accept responsibility.

Another old one revived:

A middle-aged bachelor who had ordered hard-boiled eggs for breakfast noticed this inscription on one of the eggs:

"To whom it may concern: Should this meet the eye of some man who desires to marry a farmer's daughter, kindly communicate with..."

The bachelor made haste to write to the girl, offering marriage and in a short time received this note:

"Your note came too late. I am married now and have two children."

Jimmy Crickets, an erstwhile and sometimes errant accountant, says that English writer was wrong who said that no laws are enforced in the United States... he should try parking beside the fire plug in our town.

It has been ruled that driving to a cemetery is non-essential. That may be for those still alive.

Diplomacy has been defined as the art of letting someone else have your own way.

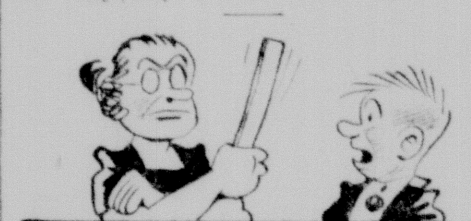

Years have taught us that, given an opportunity, the easiest thing is to find fault with what is. There is little constructive criticism in the world. And always, what there is, steps on somebody's toes.

In Pittsburgh, when a landlord could not gain a raise in the rent of a house, he removed the doors and windows from the house. He had to put them back on and did not get a raise in the rent.

And on the other hand, some mothers reward their young daughters for being good by allowing them to stay away from church.

Give me a sentence with the word fascinate in it.
"My wife has a dress with ten hooks in it, but she's getting so fat she can only fasten eight."

Listening to a famous wit ad lib is always painful. It hurts you to see anybody strain like that.

Add juvenile woes: A teacher who is unfair and takes it out on the kids if parents protest.

Doctors are among the overworked men today. Ours, who used to watch this stuff to see if we needed his services, hasn't called for three months. Probably too busy to read it.

You might as well be yourself, as the old philosopher said. You can't be anybody else.

Laws are funny. You go to jail if you knowingly accept stolen goods, yet the government requires a thief to give it a share of his profits.

The chief fault of our educational system is that it still tries to make professional men out of good mechanics.

Man seems "most contemptible" when he makes pious excuses for not doing something that would cost him money.

Fighting is like driving a car. You aren't good until your hands can do the job while your mind isn't working.

Russian Radicalism Has Been Modified
Concepts Of Stalin Prove More Modern
Anarchy Was Resurrected By KropotkinBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Before the United Nations' spokesmanship was prepared to express itself very definitely concerning Russia's abandonment of Communism as an international policy, recommended to radicals the world over with Moscow as the movement's global revolutionary hub, a few days were required for the idea to soak into the comprehension of democratic leaders elsewhere on earth.

This isn't surprising. Comrade Stalin was so abrupt with his declaration that probably he realized it would come as a jolt, both to capitalists that would regard it as a beautiful present and to others that would interpret it as a kick in the pants. In fact, my impression is that Joe deliberately saved up his surprise until the last minute, as a welcome gift to the democracies and as a correspondingly disorganizing jab at the totalitarians. He proceeded thus, anyway.

Russian radicalism has changed a lot since I first encountered it in days quite awhile before World War I.

I was European correspondent for American newspapers at the time with headquarters in London. Living there in exile at that juncture was Prince Peter Kropotkin, leader of his anti-tsarist countrymen. He was in touch with his home group, but had to associate with it at long range or face a firing squad in short order, for, as I've previously intimated, the czar was still potent in the Muscovite realm.

I presume there had been subversive activity in Russia prior to Prince Kropotkin's generation but it hadn't been much organized. He'd systematized it. As a newspaperman, I made his acquaintance, and through him established some extremely useful journalistic contacts with "red" elements not only in his own land but also in various additional parts of Europe and on the Turkish side of the Bosphorus, where revolution already was simmering.

Prince Kropotkin was the intellectual type of a "crimson." He was a delightful chap. His title dated back to some era in the distant past and he greatly deprecates it—but it stuck by him. I called him "Pete" and he took it as complimentary, coming from a radical, which was how he classified me.

Well, I did sympathize with radicals in comparison with czarist Russians and old-fashioned Turks of grim Sultan Abdul Hamid's regime.

I didn't go so far as to endorse all Russian revolutionary methods. Those boys were perfectly candid bomb-chuckers. They approved assassination of suitable selectees. In-

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

MOSCOW—Joseph Stalin: "Dissolution of the Communist International puts an end to the lie that Moscow allegedly intends to intervene in the life of other nations and bolshevize them."

WASHINGTON—M. R. Seabrooke, head of regional "co-op" organization: "For two years all we've heard is 'increase production.' Now, with the stuff on hand, we're told we can't get the dehydrators even though the simplest type would use only four or five pounds of critical materials. It doesn't make sense."

LONDON—Anthony Eden: "The battle of the U-boats still rages. It is not yet decided, but, at least, we feel better about it than we have."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Cotton Ed Smith, member of the Senate agriculture committee: "I think my committee will do what it can to prevent injection into the real life of America this false doctrine of subsidies. The rank and file of American people are demoralized. They are not going to risk their time and money unless they know they will get a return."

Clara Barton founded the Red Cross as an agency to relieve misery. They are not going to risk their time and money unless they know they will get a return.

If the Red Cross goes C.I.O. the first jurisdictional dispute will come up when a red C.I.O. corpse meets an AFL corpse in somebody's arteries.

Blood is thicker than water but it has to bear the label.

Once this goes through, a man with a nose bleed is apt to be picketed for working for free.

The Red Cross was chartered by Congress and its president is ex-officio the president of the United States. That puts it in peculiar relationship to the people.

But not half so peculiar as the outfit that's trying to organize it.

Thought for the day: Land of the free.

The World and the Mud Puddles

SOME FORUM!

In a village out in Southern California the inhabitants have a Forum. The members of this Forum meet fortnightly in the village houses. There are from fifteen to twenty who attend this Forum.

They talk and talk. Some call it "Chewing the Fat." But mostly it's the Lean. There's Democrats and Republicans, Actionaries and Reactionaries, Liberals, Standpaters and Club House Blues.

They come from Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Michigan, Kansas and Chicago—all holed up—not held up—out there in California.

In this village there is a weekly newspaper published by a gentleman who was, before he went to California on account of his health, a much prized Reporter on the Kansas City Star. He reports on this Forum in his newspaper, imitating typographically, the manner in which that other noted Reporter and Columnist on the Chicago-Tribune set forth his comments. And so this ex-Kansas City Star man goes on:

Some of them work. Some don't. Some have money. Others wish they had.

Some still believe in the old virtue of the sweat of the brow. Others just grin and say "Bosh!" Some declare wealth should be limited.

Others claim everyone is entitled to all he can get. Some think wealth should be earned.

Others look around and agree that is all right if you're not smart enough to get it some other way. Smash!

The Leader cracks the gavel and warns they're getting off the subject. Somebody lands on the President. He's to blame for everything. Hush-hush.

We're in war. The Japs are listening. The Nazis too. They roll their eyes. Show the whites. Look heavenward. And piously chant:

"Our Boys! Our Boys!" Think of them. Over there in the foxholes. In the mud. The dust. The cold. The heat. Getting bombed. Scratching. Not planning enough. Poor eats. Dying. For us. Pause to wipe away the crocodile tears.

Yes, crocodile. Back to the line of scrimmage. Call the play. We've got to win this war. WE'VE got to win it. Wouldn't that jar you?

We can't or don't even heck John Lewis. (Continued On Page Five)

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Two stories appeared in adjoining columns in my paper a couple of weeks ago.

You read them. I read them, and I wonder whether you felt the way I did.

One story told of the wanton assault by the Japs on a Red Cross ship, fully lighted up, plainly marked, so that no one could possibly have failed to recognize it.

But a Jap submarine completely disregarding all international law, torpedoed the mercy ship and sent 299 Red Cross workers to their death.

In the adjoining column was the story of the blowing up of two dams in Germany, inundating all the surrounding country, doing tremendous damage to German war production, killing some people and making more than 120,000 homeless.

When I read those stories I was stunned. I tried to grasp the colossal magnitude of events.

I tried to visualize the agonizing thoughts of the drowning workers for the good of mankind on that ship out there, and I tried to visualize the agonizing thoughts of the drowning women and children in that German valley of death.

I was thinking that maybe somewhere, somehow, the 299 and the 5000 would meet.

Would they hate each other? (They were enemies on earth.) Would they pity each other?

Would an Australian nurse say to the German child: "Get away, you are a German?"

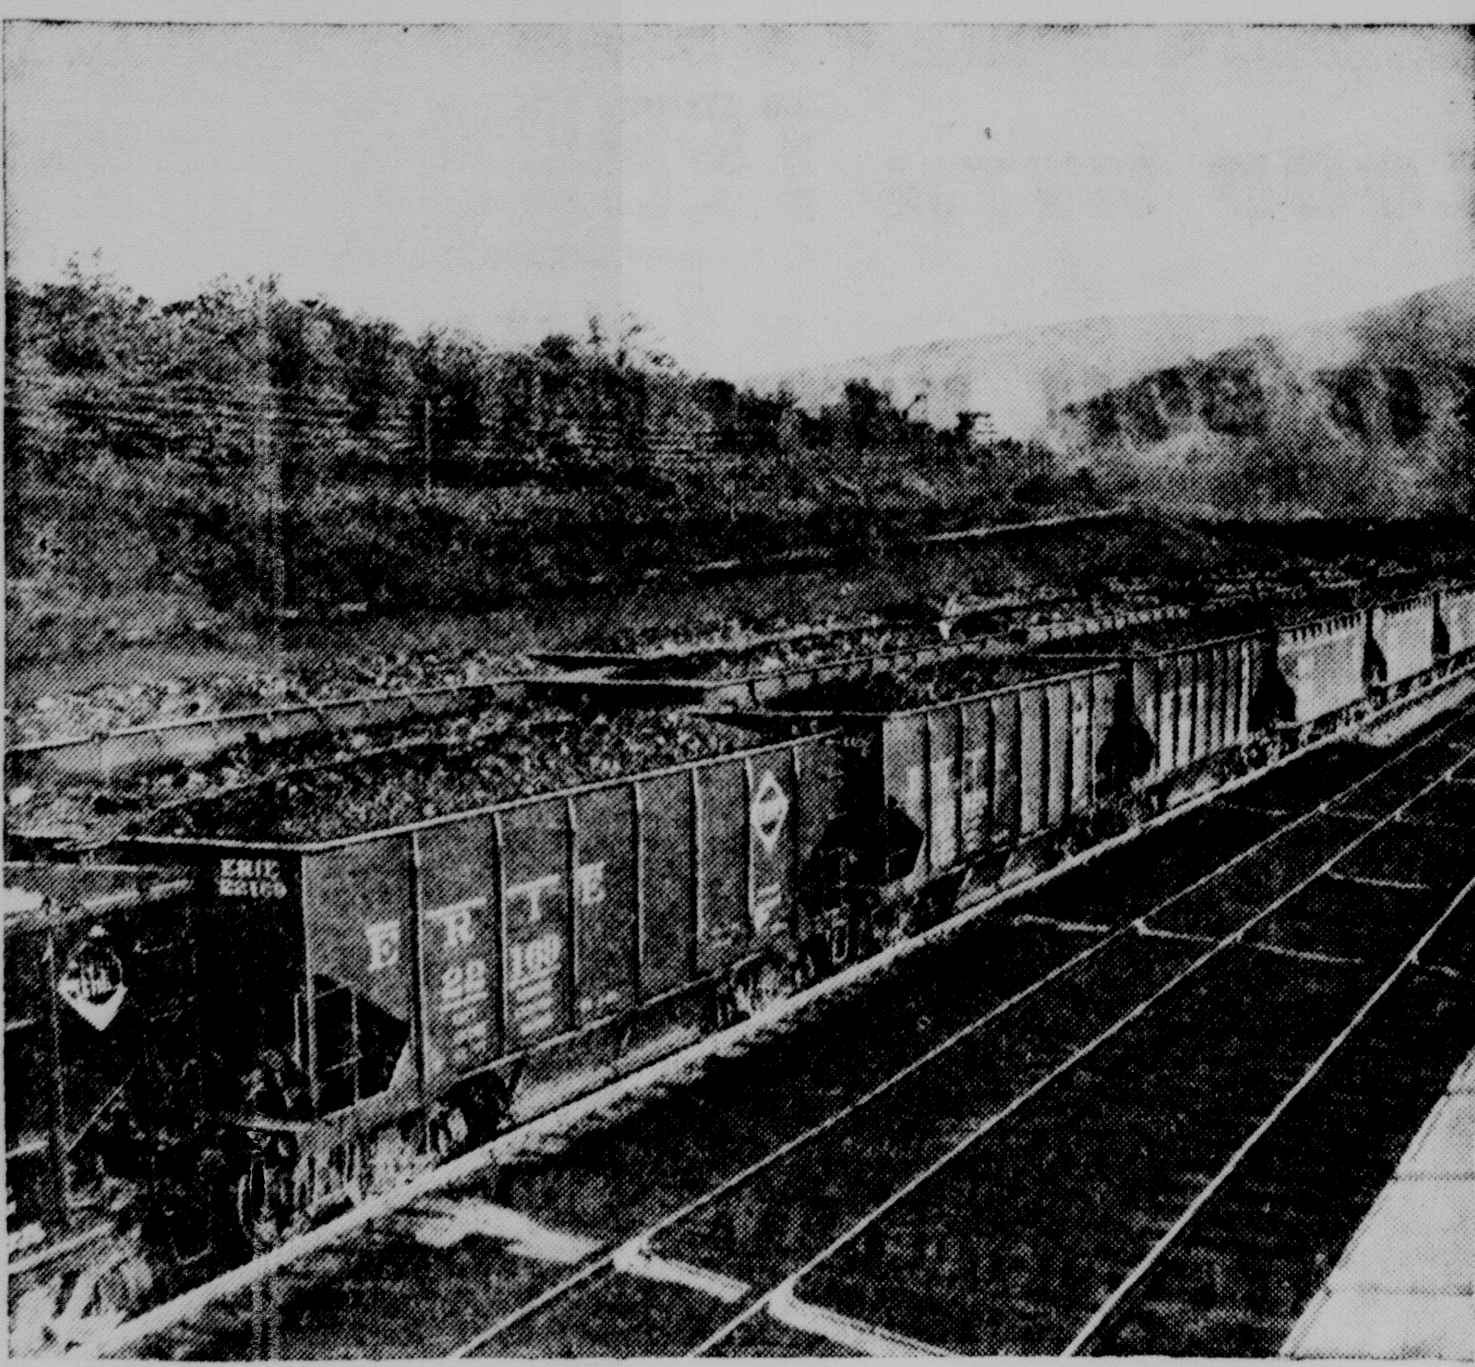

Would she hold that child responsible that the rulers of Japan were the allies of his ruler?

Or would, perhaps, all of the victims of these two catastrophes join in a common prayer for peace and understanding?

There was no excuse whatever for the torpedoing and every justification in the world for the blowing up of the dams.

And yet—how can one help but pity the innocent who have to suffer for the guilty?

And why? how can one help to work with every last ounce of strength toward that blessed time when there will really be peace on earth and good will to men? Start now! Stop hating. Stop envying. Stop trickery and deceit. Whenever you think of hurting your neighbor—think of the 5229!

HOW YOU CAN HELP SOLVE NEXT WINTER'S COAL PROBLEM TODAY

To get an idea of how much coal American railroads have been moving every week, look at these fifteen carloads and multiply them by 14,000.

This is a total of 210,000 carloads of coal—an average week's loading.

Last year, Erie alone hauled 2,506,375 more tons of coal and coke than in the previous year. This increased tonnage was sufficient to heat more than 300,000 homes—all the homes in Akron, Ohio, Albany, N. Y., Erie, Pa., Hartford, Conn., Newark, N. J., and Rochester, N. Y. combined.

This year, Erie and other American railroads will be delivering more coal than ever before to American homes and industries.

Do your part to help meet this increased demand for coal transportation by ordering next winter's supply today. Take delivery as early as possible so American railroads can deliver the goods for the battle-front as well as for the home front.

HOME CANNING METHODS

With a big home canning program this year, homemakers are asking, "Is it a pressure cooker or a boiler water bath for processing?"

Both methods are correct, but each has its definite use according to what is being canned. Foods for canning are considered in two groups depending on the amount of acid they contain. Fruits, tomatoes, and pickled foods, such as beets, are classified as acid foods while all other vegetables, meats and poultry are non-acid foods.

A pressure cooker is the recommended method for processing non-acid foods. At 10 pounds pressure it is possible to obtain a temperature of 240 degrees which is high enough to kill bacteria readily in non-acid vegetables. Meat and poultry need a temperature of 260 degrees which can be obtained by applying 15 pounds pressure. Using the pressure cooker also reduces the processing time one-half to two-thirds of that required in the boiling water bath. Any standard cooker will be satisfactory, but be sure to follow the directions that come with the cooker.

If a pressure cooker is not available, a boiling water bath may be used for non-acid vegetables, but the following rules must be carefully observed:

1. Can only fresh good quality products.
2. Pre-cook all vegetables.
3. Fill and process not more than 6 to 8 jars at one time.
4. Keep the water boiling the entire time.
5. Remove the jars from the water bath as soon as the processing period is over.
6. Cool jars in an upright position and store in a cool place.
7. Boil contents of jars 10 minutes before tasting.

Many homemakers in Pennsylvania have followed these rules carefully and have been successful in using a boiling water bath for canning when a pressure cooker was not available.

The boiling water bath is satisfactory for acid vegetables and fruits. Because of their acid content, they do not need to be processed at a temperature higher than boiling water. Any kettle or deep that will hold a rack and is deep enough for the water to cover the jars by at least one inch can be used. Start counting the time when the water begins to boil and keep the water boiling the entire processing period. Always remove jars from the water bath as soon as the processing time ends. Further information on home canning may be obtained by contacting the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, and asking for the free Home Canning Bulletin.

Red Cross Nurses Recruitment Drive Plans Announced

Mrs. Helen Vondereau Chairman Of Committee For Three-County Enlistment

To culminate in a public rally on June 18, a drive by the Nurses Recruitment committee of the local chapter of the Red Cross to recruit over one hundred nurses for army and navy service will be launched on June first.

Plans for the recruitment drive, which will be extended to cover Butler and Beaver counties in addition to Lawrence county, were discussed at a meeting at the Red Cross chapter house when Miss Jessie Herr, executive secretary of the Red Cross in Pittsburgh and Lieut. Hartman, an army nurse who is stationed in Pittsburgh, were speakers. Chairman of the Allegheny County Council for War Service Mrs. Florence Hay also attended the meeting.

Mrs. Helen Vondereau has received appointment as chairman of Nurses Recruitment for Lawrence, Butler, and Beaver counties, by National Red Cross headquarters. Mrs. W. W. Duff is vice-chairman; Mrs. Olive Key, secretary. Other members of the committee for the Nurses Recruitment drive are Miss Helen Elder, Mrs. Alice Brunswick, Mrs. Margaret Dagnon, Mrs. Mary Bell, Miss Edith Shremp, Mrs. William Wallace, Mrs. James Rugh, and Miss Beulah Norris.

In order to get a complete enrollment of all Red Cross nurses in New Castle, including all those who have ever done any Red Cross volunteer work, are asked to attend a meeting at the chapter house on Friday evening, June 4, bringing their badges with them.

June 16 is the date set for all nurses who are working in New Castle to visit Shenango Personnel Replacement Depot for a tour of the camp, dinner, and a dance. Reservations must be made before June 8 with either Mrs. Alice Brunswick, president of the Jameson-Shenango Alumnae association, or with Mrs. Olive Key, president of the New Castle Hospital Alumnae association.

Complete plans for the Nurses Recruitment rally on June 18 will be announced shortly.

In short, Anarchy, as a political title, was their motto.

Today's Nazis, Fascists and Spanish Falangists have their own ideals of government—pretty much like one another, but affiliated. Their concepts, however, are despotic in their various ways. Communism, though, is a good deal looser. Primarily it's ABSOLUTELY anti-governmental. That is, it's absolutely no government at all—no legislation, no administration, no police, no taxes, no anything whatever. Even Communism doesn't go this far.

Anarchy does. Prince Kropotkin resurrected it, dating it back to early Christian times.

Before Prince Kropotkin's time, in the mid-1800's, when anarchy began to be discussed as a practicability, Karl Marx dissented.

He had to dissent from the Prince Kropotkin conception. Marx believed in a modicum of regulation. Then, in Russia, came Leon Trotsky.

Nikolai Lenin ensued. There's got to be a certain division of varying societies, Lenin argued.

Further modification follows under Premier Stalin.

Joe remains a Russian Communist, but he insists now on making it world-wide.

Just what Communism is remains a problem.

Comrade Stalin has his concept of it. He wants it adopted all-around. And he doesn't insist on it at one gulp.

It's lucky for the democracies that he isn't Prince Kropotkin, Leon Trotsky or Nikolai Lenin. None of them would have compromised Comrade Stalin in more up-to-date.

Washington knows best.

Rats!

Move is running this war.

Postwar, my eye.

Maybe there won't be any post-war.

Think of the national debt.

Aw, who cares?

Good enough for the idle rich.

Soak 'em!

Idle, you say?

They may be rich, but not idle.

They don't get that way being idle.

What we need is more idle rich.

They cut loose.

Shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves.

We've got to go into the policing business.

Police everybody, the world over.

That's my motto.

Who are you?

I'm an American, by jabbers.

But the Atlantic Charter?

What's that?

We've promised to let every jerk-water country run itself.

But they can't.

We gotta protect 'em.

They don't want to be protected.

Oh, war! Oh, war!

It must be stopped.

Outlawed forever.

Yes, but —

But what?

Who is going to do it?

Your boys and our boys?

And I thought you wanted Our Boys brought home and sent back to sawing wood?

Yes, but somebody's got to preserve the peace.

Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition.

Think of the unemployed when the war is over.

Let's not think of it.

Leave it to the politicians.

Yeah.

Russia has a scheme.

To hell with Russia.

But she's our ally.

She never heard of Big Brother.

What's more she doesn't want to hear about him.

She doesn't go for Big Brothers.

She shoots them.

She's tough.

And how.

But what about human freedom?

Yeah, what about it?

Where's it gone?

Gone with the wind.

What wind?

The Big Wind in Washington.

He blew it.

One moment, please, thundered the old sage Formentor back in the corner who had not opened his mouth all evening:

"Let me tell you:

"When this war is over, we are all going to go on being money-hunting human beings in the same old way.

Tap.

Next meeting they will discuss America After the War.

AKRON, O.—Living up to his name, J. D. Tidman has just "picked up" the tidy sum of $190 in the de-icers and fuel cells division of B. F. Goodrich here. Appropriately enough, it was for a suggestion for a way to avoid waste of materials.

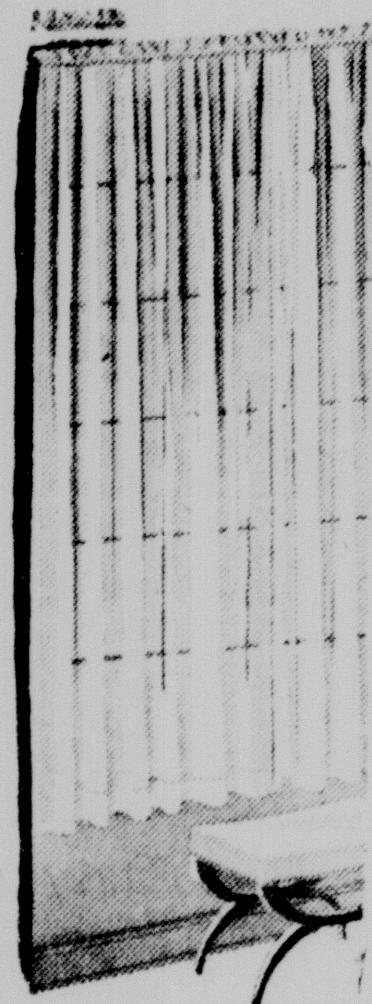

The suggestion system of the pioneer Akron rubber company in 1942 more than doubled its 1941 payments for accepted employee suggestions.

Nobody can judge another man fairly. How can you tell how well he has done if you don't know how many talents he had?

Requirements For Navy Selectees Are Slightly Lowered

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 1—Slight lowering of the physical requirements of inductees by the navy today was expected to delay for a short time the drafting of fathers.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, had announced that induction of married men with children would start in August. The navy's action is expected to delay the fathers drafted for about a month or so.

In disclosing that the navy had lowered its physical standards, war manpower director Paul V. McNutt said:

"Insofar as that reduction in standards will permit the induction of more men now, to that extent it will delay the induction of fathers, but only to that extent. The induction of fathers is therefore only a matter of time, not of fact."

Farm Labor Aid Program Given

Agricultural Extension Service Will Function As Aid In Lawrence
County

MORE WORKERS ARE NEEDED AT ONCE

Responsibility for organizing and directing a farm labor program has been assigned to the agricultural extension services of the land-grant colleges by recent congressional action, according to J. M. Fry, director of extension of the school of agriculture of the Pennsylvania State college.

Farm labor placement has been one of the functions of the United States Employment Service. The U. S. E. S. will discontinue its program of local recruitment and the placement of farm labor in Pennsylvania except as it cooperates with the agricultural extension service in the interstate recruitment and transportation of farm labor.

Director Fry reports that the agricultural extension service will function through farm labor offices now being established in each county. These offices will be under the direction and supervision of the county farm agents. Where needed, additional personnel will be employed to handle the program. County emergency farm labor committees composed of farm leaders, urban business interests and school authorities will serve in an advisory capacity and assist in making the program as efficient as possible. The committee members in Lawrence county are: J. A. Book, chairman; W. R. Fox, vice-chairman; R. B. Jackson, secretary; H. M. McCurley, G. A. Bradley, C. B. Patton, J. C. Syling, J. Lepere Matthews and Richard E. Rentz.

The need for food and feed crops is extremely important this year, states Director Fry. Many thousands of skilled farm workers have left Pennsylvania farm for the armed services and for more remunerative positions in industry. If the need for food and feed is to be met, it is necessary to mobilize persons who can be made available for farm work, especially during the growing and harvesting season. Very few available persons are skilled in farm work but they are willing to volunteer and do what they can. The patience and resourcefulness of the farm operator will determine the degree to which this unskilled labor can be made effective.

Persons whether skilled or unskilled in farm work, who desire to work on farms during periods of a week to several months or more are invited to enroll with the county emergency farm labor office, Penna. Power building, New Castle. They will include persons in business establishments or in industry who are able to work on nearby farms a part of a day at a time or who wish to work on farms during vacation periods. Farmers in need of help should likewise make their wants known to this office.

Enrollment of city school youth by school authorities is nearly complete in Lawrence county. Groups in various parts of the county are cooperating with the committee in securing the names of those available for farm work. In Ellwood City, the Chamber of Commerce office will list those who are available and will receive requests from farmers in that area for help. Similar programs are being worked out in New Wilmington and in Bessemer.

The administration of the program is the responsibility of the director of the agricultural extension service. The supervisor in charge is J. E. McCord, whose headquarters will be at the Pennsylvania State college.

GIRL FALLS ON BOTTLE

Dolores Kretzer, of 921 Kurtz Place, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, for lacerations of the right hand and wrist. She fell while carrying a pop bottle, the glass shattering and causing several lacerations.

A combat plane is built virtually around its engine.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable, thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin, for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Cascade Park
More BeautifulCity's Natural Park Has Much Appeal As Season
Of 1943 Is OpenedMANY GATHER AT PARK ON HOLIDAY

Cascade park is now open for a season of activity and those who visited the city's natural park Saturday, Sunday and Monday believe that it is in far better condition than it ever has been and that its beauty cannot be surpassed. True, there are not as many amusements as existed in previous years but they are sufficient for both young and old to enjoy themselves. This is due to Director Joe Alexander, the park commission, Manager C. C. Coulthard and the latter's staff of workers.

Stanley Pagliaro, who has charge of the park's flowers, has performed a great job. Flowers bloom in not only old beds but in new ones. The hillside has been cleaned of all debris, leaves and it is possible to have a basket dinner in any section.

Pavilion Improved

The Rainbow terrace or dance pavilion has been improved. The place has been enclosed. However, it has been so arranged there are sliding doors which may be opened. It is now impossible for one to stand outside the promenade and annoy the couples who either dance or "sit em out."

The Dodge'em and merry-go-round are operating. The drive ways through the park with a 10 miles per hour speed limit, are in excellent shape. The water from the creek has been tested and pronounced splendid by city health authorities and the kitchen facilities in the grove are splendid.

There are a dozen gas stoves with as many as three burners each. The gas is free. There also is an open fireplace inside and outside for wieners roasts and the corn roast steamers are still there. All of the shelters for luncheon purposes have been improved with coats of green and white paint.

The pool for bathing has been revamped. The large section has been partitioned but there will be plenty of room for the expected thousands of swimmers on sultry days. Concrete walks around the pool and leading to the kiddies section, adults section and "deep pool" replace wooden walks.

Beautiful Falls

Scattered throughout the vast acreage are the various shelters, which may be used in time of rain. All of them contain tables where tablecloths may be spread and now that the bridge across the gorge has been repaired one may easily reach the pool from the midway proper.

Crossing the gorge bridge to the south side one may ascend the north hill, which is a maze of fine trees and green plots, dotted here and there with flat rocks, one can obtain a wonderful view of the beautiful Cascades Falls and the Big Run. It is a miniature Niagara Falls and worth using some film on.

The lake has been improved. In fact, there is more water in the lake now than for years past. A fleet of rowboats is available. The launch is not operating at present because of the cut in gasoline for pleasure purposes. Day in and day out youngsters may be seen fishing in the lake for carp.

For those who like to journey to the park without going to the trouble of preparing a luncheon, there is a park restaurant which has been renovated. The same restaurant as ever is catering again to the public. He is Paul Marakas.

With auto pleasure driving banned and bus service available to the park it is probably that people who ordinarily would get into their car and drive a couple hundred miles will "See New Castle First" meaning of course they'll arrive their boyhood and girlhood days by riding to Cascade park.

Republicans might win by keeping still to avoid all controversy, but Heaven pity a nation ruled by men who gained power by having no principle.

May Crowning Held
By Hospital NursesElaborate Ceremonies Held On Monday Afternoon On New Castle Hospital Lawn

Beautifully conducted were the May Day ceremonies honoring the Blessed Virgin Mary, on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the student nurses of the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing. In spite of inclement weather, the ceremonies were held on a nicely arranged setting, at the north end of the hospital lawn.

Quite a large crowd was attracted by the impressive ceremonies, which started with the procession. Miss Josephine Peluso, chosen as May queen by her admiring classmates, was crowned by the Rev. Vincent O'Donnell, chaplain of the New Castle hospital, and then she in turn placed a crown upon the statue of the Blessed Mother. Assisting were her ladies of the court: Zelma Guest, Jessie Baptiste, Catherine Flynn, Elsie Sherna, Joan Cordone and Margaret Bucley.

The Johnson triplets, born four years ago at the New Castle hospital, were also participants in the crowning services. Thomas being the crown bearer, and pretty little Clara and Gertrude acting as train bearers.

Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter, pastor of St. Mary's church, as the principal speaker, gave the inspiring message of "The Blessed Mother," the topic being well received by those present.

The patriotic feature of the program was the presentation of the service flag by Mrs. Olive Key of the hospital alumnae of the School of Nursing, accepted by the president of the Student Nurses society, Jennie Lutkin. Eighteen stars are prominently placed upon the flag for the following nurses now in the service of our country: Josephine Boron, Gertrude Crable, Kathryn Franko, Donnelly, Rose DiThomas, Beulah Filban, Frances Hood, Margaret Joseph, Beatrice Jenkins, Mary Marsic, Doris Miles, Alice Reed, Nora Thompson, Frances Wallas, Marie Whitlach, Mary Orland, Della Ulsch, Doris Schafer and Mary Eileen McPeak.

Assisting in the afternoon ceremonies were Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso of St. Vitus, Rev. Fr. James Kernan of St. Margaret's, Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito of St. John the Baptist, Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson of St. Mary's church, Rev. Fr. John M. Unger of St. Joseph's, Rev. Fr. Bernard Carlin of Pittsburgh and Rev. Vincent O'Donnell of the New Castle hospital. Father O'Donnell also was celebrant at Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament Monday morning at 6 o'clock in the hospital chapel.

Father O'Donnell was assisted in the arrangements of the program by Sister M. Dolores, Sister M. Annette and Sister M. Agatha.

In addition to members of the clergy, who were guests, a few others attended as honored guests, among whom were members of the Red Cross Nurses' Aide committee and the Red Cross executive secretary, Miss Elizabeth Breslin.

Taking part in the professional and services were the student nurses, graduates of the school and others of the various Societies. At the conclusion, an informal reception was held in the nurses' home for guests. The program presented was as follows:

Master of ceremonies—Rev. Fr. Francis King.
Procession—Lourdes Hymn.
Crowning of the May queen—Rev. Fr. Vincent O'Donnell.
Hymn—On This Day O Beautiful Mother.Presentation of service flag by Mrs. Olive Key, president of the New Hospital School of Nursing Alumnae, to the School of Nursing, accepted by Miss Jennie Lutkin, president of student society.
Crowning of Blessed Mother.
Hymn—O Mary We Crown Thee.
Address—May queen.Act of consecration—Queen and attendants.
Presentation of flowers.
Hymn—Bring Flowers of the Fair-est.

Truck Operators To Meet Tonight

Gasoline Restrictions To Be Clarified; Effort To Be Made For More Gas

Truck operators in Lawrence County tonight at eight o'clock when the new truck gasoline rules will be explained and an attempt to have the restrictions loosened for truck operators hauling materials essential in the war industry.

The meeting is being called by J. Fred Clarke, president of the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, but the meeting is by no means limited to members. It is for every truck operator hauling essential materials, regardless of whether or not he is affiliated with PMTA.

Mr. Clarke, along with Samuel A. Mooney, Al. Bauman, John Loudon and Barney Martin have returned from a conference with the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington, D. C., where the recent cuts in truck gasoline were protested.

There is an outside chance that some easing of the situation may be secured if the truck operators will join in organized protests. It is for this purpose the meeting is being called tonight.

Close to 25,000 poppies were sold, it was stated, and a nice sum was realized by both posts for their welfare work.

ST. MONICA'S Church May Crowning Held

Large Attendance Noted At Impressive May Day Ceremonies Sunday Evening

Tribute to the Blessed Virgin Mary was offered by St. Monica's Sodality, Wampum, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, with lovely May Day crowning ceremonies paying homage to her—the Mother of all.

Processional rosary opened the ceremonies, with the Sodality taking part. Hymn to the Blessed Virgin was sung, followed by the crowning of the May Queen, Miss Jennie Biega, by Rev. Fr. Edmund F. Rowan, pastor of St. Monica's.

Miss Biega then crowned the statue of the Blessed Mother, assisted by her court of ladies: Virginia Montozzi, Mary Melli, Mary Heratine and Josephine Shana. Paula Cavalier sang "Ave Maria."

Rev. Fr. Philip Hanley, O. P. of St. Dominick's church, Youngstown, was the speaker, choosing as his subject, "Blessed Mother." His talk was not only well-received, but appropriate to the occasion.

The hymn to the Blessed Lady followed and presentation of flowers by attendants and flower girls. A reception for the new candidates took place: Teresa Cesarini, Josephine Shana, Dorothy Ippolito and Mary Jane Montozzi.

Act of consecration and dedication to the Blessed Mother was recited by the Sodality, led by the May queen.

Benediction of the blessed sacrament brought the services to a close. Father Hanley being celebrant. The recessional was held from the church.

Later, the Sodality and Ladies of St. Monica's gathered in the social rooms of the church, where they conducted a surprise birthday party for their pastor, Rev. Fr. Edmund F. Rowan. An informal social time ensued.

Auto Fire Cause Of Double Alarm

Several fire companies were called to the intersection of Long avenue and Cunningham avenue at 11:40 o'clock last night and again at 12:15 this morning, but it was not a double alarm for fire.

The blaze, which had occurred in an auto bearing license No. 8VP41, had been extinguished, and as Assistant Chief Wilmer Hawk went to wind the spring in the box to prepare for future use the lever was accidentally touched, setting off the system.

Damage to the interior of the car was considerable. The owner could not be found at the scene by the firemen.

AUTO FIRE

B truck company from Central station was called out at 9:25 o'clock Saturday evening, when the brakes of a tractor truck owned by the Motor Cargo Co. of Akron, O., were found ablaze in front of the bus terminal on North Jefferson street. The damage was small.

House To Vote On Tax Measure

Pay-As-You-Go Bill Expected To Get Approval Of Body

SENATE TO FOLLOW ACTION OF HOUSE

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—With favorable action regarded as certain, the house today votes on whether to accept a compromise pay-as-you-go tax bill which includes provisions for collection of income taxes from pay envelopes starting July 1.

House leaders were virtually unanimous in predicting adoption of the measure, one member, Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, ranking Republican on the tax-writing committee, forecasting a 5-to-1 vote.

The senate is expected to complete congressional action on the bill tomorrow and send it to the White House, where, according to administration leaders, President Roosevelt will sign it.

Stated to oppose the bill in the house, however, are three Democrats and one Republican who are members of the ways and means committee. They are Reps. Cooper (D), Tenn.; Disney (D), Okla.; Dingell (D), Mich.; and Gearhart (R), Calif. All have been steadfast foes of abating any taxes in time of war.

The bill, drafted by a senate-house conference committee after the two branches had virtually deadlocked over the senate-approved Ruml plan, provides:

1. To accomplish the transition to a current basis, complete forgiveness for those owing not more than $50 in 1942 or 1943 (whichever year is the less); approximately $50 cancellation for those owing up to $96.67, and 75 per cent abatement for those owing more than $96.67.

2. The unabated portion must be paid in equal installments during the next two years, March 15, 1944, and March 15, 1945, in addition to regular taxes.

3. Starting July 1, a 20 per cent withholding levy will be imposed on all pay envelopes, the money so collected to be credited against taxes owed. Persons who derive their income from sources other than a pay envelope, will continue to pay quarterly as at present, but on a current basis, estimating what they owe in advance.

4. Servicemen, domestics, clergymen and farm hands will be exempt from the withholding levy. In addition all members of the armed services will receive an exemption of $1,500 on their service pay.

5. Persons having taxes in excess of $20,000 will, in computing their 75 per cent abatement, be subject to anti-windfall formulae designed to prevent escapement of taxes on war-swollen profits.

Carrasquel-Center Score Victory, Defeat; Red Sox Win Twice

YANKEES DIVIDE WITH WHITESOX

By JOHN CASHMAN

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 1.—There is a new record written into the major league pitching annals today. It's a screwy record, more curious than inspiring, but it belongs to 1943 and therefore it is worthy of the nation's attention.

It was given to the public yesterday by two pitchers who have hardly ever before given the public a feat worthy of notice. Marvin Center of the Cleveland Indians and Alex Carrasquel of the Washington Senators. They attained the height of something or other in the Senators-Indians double-header when each won and lost a game.

Goes Like This

It went something like this. In the first game, Center relieved Mike Nymick in the seventh, and was charged with the loss when the Indians were beaten 8 to 7. Carrasquel, who had relieved Jimmy Mertz in the sixth, pulled the Senators out of the fire for the victory.

In the second game, Carrasquel relieved Heffner in the seventh and was tabbed for the loss when the Senators were whipped, 7 to 6. Center, who had taken over on the Indians' mound for Paul Calvert in the seventh, was credited with the victory.

The Boston Braves took the first game of a double-header with the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 1, then dropped the nightcap, 4 to 0. In the opener, "Flutter-Ball" Jim Tobin restricted the Pirates to five hits while his teammates lashed five-buc pitchers for 14 safeties, including Outfielder Charley Workman's home run in the third frame. The Pirates bounced back in the second and quickly knocked Manny Salvo out of the box and work on relief pitchers Bill Donovan and Dave Adam for 12 hits.

The Boston Red Sox set no records, but were in dead earnest when they shoved the St. Louis Browns deeper into the A. L. cellar by whipping them in both ends of a double-header, 2 to 1 and 7 to 6.

Nicholson Homers Twice

Outfielder Bill Nicholson of the Chicago Cubs hit two more home runs, making a total of four homers in two days as his teammates split a double-header with the Philadelphia Phillies. The Cubs won the afterpiece, 8 to 2, after dropping the first game, 10 to 4.

Behind the two-hit pitching of Hal Newhouse, the Detroit Tigers took the opening game, 7 to 0, then the Philadelphia Athletics bounced back to eke out a 4 to 3 triumph in the nightcap. The whippersnapped five men to raise his season's total to 44.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, after being shut out by the St. Louis Cards in a 7 to 0 first-game decision, came back in the bottom half to limit the Cards to one hit in gaining a 1 to 0 victory. A fifth inning double by Billy Herman kept Mori Cooper from scoring a no-hitter in the opener, while aged Freddie Fitz (Continued On Next Page)

Moose Plays At Lawrence Indies; Pottery Is Host To Elder Nine

SUNDAY GAMES ARE POSTPONED

Forced to the sidelines Sunday by the mean weatherman, City Baseball leaguers try to open their 1943 flag chase tonight at 6 o'clock.

On Lee avenue field (west side), the Shenango Pottery has the Elder A. C. on its calling list.

Indies Vs. Moose

In the second set to on the bill, the Lawrence Indies battle the Moose club on Mahoning avenue field. The tilt originally was scheduled for Cedar street grounds. The change was announced by Mike Michaliojko, Indies' business manager.

Last Sunday's games go on the postponed roll and will be played at a later date.

Thursday evening's schedule pairs the Moose and Elders on Marshall field, and the Lawrence Indies and Shenango Pottery on Lee avenue field.

President Michael Donovan today announced that the Lawrence County Umpires' association will officiate all league games. The ball callers met Saturday night and voted to cooperate with the circuit.

Is Count Fleet Among Greatest?

Alex Robb Rates Derby Prearkness Winner "Best In Last Decade"

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 1.—Race horses come in all shapes and sizes—and the main thing is to get there in front," said Alex Robb, executive secretary of the thoroughbred racing associations. "Some horses, like War Admiral, are comparatively small. Others, like Exterminator, are big. Moreover, some of them, like Seabiscuit, run constantly as two-year-olds without showing much. Others, like Sun Beau, make only a couple of two-year-old starts, and come on to greatness later. So what you hear about Count Fleet really isn't very important yet."

This was in reply to one of the burning questions of the moment wherever the sports mob gathers viz: "Is Count Fleet great, despite his faulty running?"

Little Sway-Backed

"He's supposed to be a little sway-backed with his head too high as he burns up one track after another, and some people tell you that it is only a question of time until he winds up with all four of his feet tied in a big tangle-footed knot. "I think he is likely to establish himself as the best horse we've seen in a decade at least. Yes, he might yet be rated alongside Man O'War and Exterminator, everything being dependent now upon what he does in the handicaps."

In this connection it might be mentioned again that Man O'War was beaten only once in 21 starts—the well-named Upset doing it by a half length. Exterminator ran an even hundred times, won 56, was in the money 64 times and of the 16 times he was out of the money he finished worse than fourth only seven times.

Count Fleet was never out of the money as a two-year-old and so far he has spreadeagled the three-year-old field with five straight.

He started the year with a minor triumph, then took the Wood Memorial, the Kentucky Derby, the Prearkness and the Withers in stride without ever being pressed even slightly and will attempt to clinch the triple crown and complete the major cleanup a week from today in the Belmont Stakes.

Future Plans

After that probably will come the American Derby and the Classic at Chicago, and soon thereafter he is expected to start running against Whirlaway, Market Wise, Alsab and the other horses to prove beyond further rebuttal his right to all-time greatness.

Southworth Tells How His Team Won Series From Yanks

Won With Progressive-System Baseball, Plus Unprecedented Speed

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—The greatest team that ever stepped on a ball field is what Billy Southworth manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, calls his 1942 World's Champions in an article in the current issue of a national magazine titled, "The Greatest Ball Club On Earth."

In relating how the Cards whipped the New York Yankees in the series, Southworth says, "We beat the Yankees with progressive-system baseball, played with a speed they never saw before. The greatest double-play combination in baseball history, Rizzuto and Gordon, produced only one double play in the series, compared with four in 1941. That's your answer, or part of it. Our running game—getting to second on an outfielder's throw to third, taking every extra base and extra chance—forced a smooth-operating ball club to step up its pace. The Yankee technique broke under the strain of unaccustomed speed-up pressure."

Won 43 Out Of 52

"The 1942 Cardinals won forty-three of their last fifty-two ball games for a percentage of .827. It was the greatest sustained streak in the history of modern baseball. The player's belief in themselves was so profound that the spectacular was taken as the commonplace. "Faith in one another, believe me, declares Southworth, accounts for half our success on the ball field."

Mutuel Handle Record Broken At Lincoln Fields

Capacity Crowd Wagers $1,135,878; Red Cross, Men's Center Benefit

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 1.—A double-barreled mutuel handle record was in the books today.

The $1,135,878 that went through the machines at the Lincoln Fields race meeting yesterday, not only set a new mark for Lincoln Fields but as well for the Hawthorne track where the meeting is being held because of wartime exigencies.

Lincoln Fields' former high mark was Labor Day in 1929 when $1,006,000 was wagered. The top at Hawthorne was $887,000, set the same year.

The great crowd of 37,000 which really exceeded the capacity of the track to handle comfortably was a source of gratification to Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American turf association which operates both Lincoln Fields and Churchill Downs.

The net proceed of the day are to go to the Red Cross and the Chicago Service Men's Center. The exact amount will be determined by an audit, but it was estimated to be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

In the feature race of the holiday card, the $5,000 Francis S. Peabody Memorial Handicap, A. C. Ernst's Alester romped to a five-length victory over the mile and a sixteenth distance and paid $7.20, $4.20 and $3.80.

Flying Easy, a 14 to 1 shot, was second and Happy Pilot, a 28 to 1 shot, was third. The 3 to 2 favorite, Best Seller, wound up fourth.

Phillies Discard Black Sheep Tag

Team No Longer Disgrace To Baseball; Resale Stunt Turns Tables

By LAWTON CARVER

INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 1.—Realizing that the Philadelphia Phillies might at any moment be overcome by an accident, such as a 50-game losing streak, I still think this would be a good time for everybody to stand up and give them three rais and a locomotive. Give it to them, and to Billy Cox, their new owner, and to Bucky Harris, their new manager who was lifted out of the American league as part of the new deal that has made the club artistically and financially successful beyond the wildest dreams of a Philly addict, if any.

Perpetual Problem

This was the club that struggled and floundered and finally came to be a mild disgrace and a perpetual problem to the National league this season. It was the club that rival teams welcomed at all times as the one on which the standing (of the rival) and rival batting averages could be fattened upon. It was a thing despised in baseball, loathed almost beyond words by the others.

Through the years, season after season it gradually had become more lowly until finally reluctant league officials belatedly had to do something about it, and suddenly took over for resale.

Bill Cox took about as big a gamble as any man ever to enter the game. Getting a franchise in the old days implied a willingness to lose money if necessary and perhaps go bankrupt eventually, but that was as nothing compared with what Cox acquired and what he has converted into a pretty good imitation of a free-wheeling gold mine.

The thing has reached the point where baseball no longer must hide its face when the Phillies are mentioned. They belong, and no longer are the family shame to be hidden away behind excuses and pretense.

Threat To Game

This brings up the point that major league baseball, for all its seeming savvy as a first line industry, can be stupidly slow-moving. They should have acted years sooner in spite of all the hollow sanctity of a franchise. The Phillies were so bad actually before the league stepped in and unloaded them on Bill Cox that they were a threat to the game.

During the last home stand the Phils played to 143,004 spectators, including a sellout for their last home double-header. They are an attraction on the road as well—not great ball players, but hustling ball players who are so far improved over the Phillies of the Gerry Nugent regime that apologies no longer are necessary.

Adopt Six-Months Plan; May Reduce Basketball Speed

Reinstatement Of Center Jump Recommended; Berwick Protest Returned

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., June 1.—The PIAA Board of Control, meeting in conjunction with the holding of the 19th annual track and field championships, voted to continue sports at all state high schools for the next six months on a similar basis as the past semester.

The board, however, agreed upon a plan to slow down the game of basketball and named Edmund C. Wicht, secretary of the group, and Dr. Frank P. McGuire to study the rules of the court game. The game is too fast, officials contend.

It was believed the two-man committee will recommend the reinstatement of the center jump and the adoption of rules to permit the umpire and referee to handle the ball more frequently than they do at present.

Protest Is Returned

Simultaneously, the PIAA control board returned the protest lodged against Berwick high for allegedly using non-employee coaches and athletic directors back to the District No. 4 committee for appropriate action.

The track meet in Altoona high schools' new $100,000 stadium was a marked success. In all, more than 400 athletes from 98 schools were on hand.

Ladies' Class Will Be Formed By Revolver Club

Sportsmen's Revolver club members will hold their weekly meeting in The Cathedral, tonight starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Secretary Charles H. Schweinsberg today announced that a ladies' class soon will be added to the firearms school sponsored by the organization. Ladies over 18 years of age will be eligible.

Ladies interested in enrolling may do so by phoning Mr. Schweinsberg at 5377 or by writing to him. His address is 104 West Wallace avenue. Auxiliary police or prospective selectees may enroll in classes by calling Mr. Schweinsberg.

The club would like to arrange matches with police and guard forces or any teams in the city or county.

SAME POST

Billy Herman, Brooklyn infielder, now in his 13th year as a major leaguer, may wind up at third base, where he started with Vicksburg in 1928.

YANK STARTERS

The Yankees starting pitchers are Ernie Bonham, Hank Borowy, Marvin Brenner, Atley Donald and Spud Chandler.

GALENTO-KATZ BATTLE TONIGHT

TAMPA, Fla., June 1.—Tony Galento starts his comeback against Herbie Katz, of New York, tonight in a 10-round affair.

simmons, who pitched eight innings gained credit for the nightcap win.

The Cincinnati Reds whipped the New York Giants, 6 to 4, in the first game of a scheduled twin bill while the second game was called at the end of the sixth inning. Although he was credited with the win, Elmer Riddle was knocked out of the box in the ninth by a three-hit rally.

In the heaviest-scoring twin bill of the day, the Chicago White Sox whipped the New York Yankees 10 to 5 in the opener. This only served to inflame the A. L. leaders however, as they returned to trounce the White Sox, 10 to 4, under a brutal batting assault. The Yankees hit like madmen in the bottom half of the twin bill, collecting 18 safeties, including two homers, a triple and two doubles, for a total of 31 bases. Joe Gordon scored the Yankees first grand slam of the year by hitting a four-bagger in the eighth with bases loaded.

Mrs. Rose Reichart, of North Ashland avenue, has returned from Custer, Ohio, where she was called on account of the death and funeral of her sister, Mrs. Lewis Cappel.

YWCA ENDEAVORS TO ERASE DEBTS

All groups of the local Y. W. C. A. have been asked by the Finance Committee to make an effort in the near future to raise funds to erase an indebtedness of $442 so that the association may be debt-free.

During the present year, the Young Women's Christian Association received a bequest of $271.50 from the David Nessel estate. With that, the "Y" refinished the floor of the auditorium at an expense of $147.35 and used the balance to purchase four davenport and matching chairs.

India-China Route Over Himalayas Is Worst Air Course

Army Transport Pilot Describes Hazards Of Weather,
High Peaks

By PAUL T. GIGURE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
BOSTON, June 1.—The herculean task of maintaining China's storm-battered aerial lifeline over the towering Himalayas was described today by a returned army transport pilot.

The airman, Capt. James P. Segel, 23, of Brighton, declared in an interview:

"I don't know whether it is physical or mental chill, but you always feel 'shivery' up there."

He pictured the "world's worst flying conditions" along the transport plane route from India to China with "instrument flying two-thirds of the time," minimum "safe ceilings" of 16,000 feet and the imminent peril of crashing into a crazy peak.

"After one year of that your flying status for the particular kind of work is usually revoked," averred Capt. Segel.

Weather rampages which dwarf the everyday dangers of warfare were pictured by the pilot.

The erratic elements, he said, could not be charted beyond terminal forecasts, providing an intervening travel space in which "we never knew what would happen."

But the pilots contrived to diminish the chance of having an entire squadron of ships caught in bad weather.

The first plane to take off was designated "weather ship" and was relied upon to radio weather conditions encountered.

St. Michael's Have May Queen Crowning

Impressive Ceremonies Conducted At St. Michael's Church Sunday
Afternoon

St. Michael's church was filled to capacity on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when impressive May Day crowning ceremonies were conducted at the church, honoring the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The ceremonies started with the litany of the Blessed Virgin, chanted by Agnes Kiroi, with the Sodality responding. The hymn "Mother Dearest, Mother Fairest," was sung by the assembly.

Rev. Fr. Charles D. Galati, of St. Lawrence church, Hillsville, as the principal speaker, chose the appropriate subject of the "Blessed Virgin Mary." His talk proved interesting.

Rev. Fr. William M. Pisarcik, pastor of the church, conducted the reception of new members into the Sodality and following the hymns were sung: "Come Holy Ghost," and "On This Day."

Father Pisarcik crowned the May Queen, Anne Kolesar, prefect of the Sodality, who in turn placed a crown upon the statue of the Blessed Mother. Assisting in the beautiful crowning services were ladies of the queen's court who also marched in the procession, Eleanor Kraus, Margaret Mastko, Ann Carik, Veronica Sojak, Rita Seinkner, Margaret Hudak, Dorothy Kolesar, Margaret Berger, Ann Keyso, and Sue Kulha. Mary Mirak was the processional guide; Agnes Shellok the bearer of the queen's crown; and Joan Jurina carried the Blessed Mother's crown. Train bearers were Helen Mihok and Julia Salamon; and Flower girls were: Loretta Domenick, Barbara Knis and Dorothy Pastrick.

Presentation of flowers was held, and the songs "Bring Flowers of the Fairest," and the hymn for peace, "Mary Help Our Valiant Soldiers," were sung.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament brought the services to a close. Rev. Fr. William M. Pisarcik was celebrant; Rev. Fr. Charles D. Galati, of Hillsville, was deacon; and Rev. Fr. Elias G. Nader, of St. John the Baptist church, was sub-deacon.

A reception for the new Sodalists was held in the church social rooms, at the close of the ceremonies.

Y.M.C.A. To Begin 'Learn To Swim' Campaign June 14

This year the Y will again feature its "Learn to Swim" campaign in June. It will begin on June 14 and run two weeks. In all, the boys are given 10 days of lessons free of charge. In this campaign the purpose is to teach the boys of New Castle who can't swim the rudiments of swimming.

The campaign this year will again be in charge of Mr. Winter, physical director of the Y. Every year he teaches between two and three hundred boys the art of swimming. It is in June that the Y is anxious to have boys learn so that they will be able to swim and enjoy the summer more. Applications can be had by stopping in at the Y, or at your school office, or by clipping the coupon which will appear later in The News. Instructors will be announced later.

Wardens To Stop Reckless Driving

D. O. Davies, city director of the OCD, today stated that in the past some autoists have driven cars recklessly during the Blue signal. This endangered lives, he added. He warned today that in the next blackout, actual or test, air raid wardens will stop any autoist who drives recklessly. They will be required to answer to the charge, Davies added.

A good party man is one who can make himself believe Heaven, home and mother are all rotten if the other side favors them.

The Shenango Replacement Center needs whatever sports equipment you can give.

The New Castle Store will see that it is delivered to the proper authorities.

Woman Leaps To Death From 16th Floor Of Hotel

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 1.—Scarcely an hour before her army husband was to return to his post at Washington, Mrs. Janet Snowden Gill, attractive oil heiress, plunged to her death from her 16th floor suite at the swank Savoy-Plaza hotel.

The nude body of the 28-year-old heiress landed on a third-story roof extension. Her husband, Capt. William Sherman Gill, awoke from a nap to find her missing.

The heiress, mother of three children, came to New York from Minneapolis where she left the children with relatives, to spend a five-day furlough with her husband, who is an intelligence officer at the nation's capital.

Mrs. Gill was a daughter of the late James H. Snowden, an oil millionaire.

Gill told police his wife had suffered a nervous breakdown and had been under a doctor's care at their home in Santa Barbara, Calif.

CHARGE LEWIS WITH 'ONE MAN WAR ON UNITED STATES'

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 1.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America was assailed today as the "intriguing mine workers" union leader who set out to wage his one-man war on the United States.

The condemnation of the mine union chief was made in the Ad- vance, official organ of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers (A.C.W.) union. The attack on Lewis was made in the union paper as a result of Lewis' application to re-affiliate the mine workers with the American federation of labor.
